Preface

So that the possibility of higher education might be brought to more people; so that more people might learn from good instructors—thus improving themselves and their community, our college was established in 1927. Fourteen years later, in 1941, we, the staff, present our first yearbook, a record of busy and happy months in our college. So that posterity will not giggle at row on row of stiffly-posed family-album type pictures, we have selected informality as our governing keynote.

At some far distant time in the future, when you recover this book from some dark, dusty corner and leaf through its pages, our greatest hope is that a slight lump will form in your throat as you recall all these familiar places and faces. You will also recall the national emergency which caused 1941 to be a boom year. You will recall the world of strained international relations into which our sophomores graduated. You will recall how each of our graduates fitted himself into the national picture and reassured us that "there will always be an America."

Reflecting

Dedication

To Dean James L. Beck

In appreciation of his competent administration of our College and his genial presence in our halls; of his generous smile and hearty greeting, which typify for us the spirit of our Junior College, we dedicate our 1941 Sketchbook.

Who Did It?

In order to obtain a greater interest and participation in athletics, the Junior College, in 1940, adopted the intramural sports system. This system allows any student in college to enter any of the athletic events. The winner of each event receives a medal and 6 points. The second and third place winners receive 3 points and 1 point, respectively. The person accruing the highest number of points is the individual winner of the intramural tournament for which a prize is given. The prize for this year is an electric clock.

The events included in the intramural program are: basketball, volleyball, softball, handball, shuffleboard, table tennis, badminton, swimming and track. In the events, such as basketball and softball, in which there is team competition, each member of the first place team receives a medal and 6 points. The captains for the various teams were appointed and they, in turn, chose the men for their teams. There were 6 basketball teams, 6 volleyball teams and 4 softball teams chosen. The team tournaments were of the "round robin" type, whereby each team plays every other team and the team having the highest percentage of wins is the winner. The individual events, such as handball and badminton, employ the elimination system.

The intramural program is very popular judging from the amount of enthusiasm displayed by the players, especially during team competition.

Intercollegiate athletics are not neglected, for the golf, tennis, and track teams enter into competition with other schools. The golf team entered the state meet for Junior Colleges on May 10. The tennis team competed in the state ten-

The Rifle Club was just organized this spring by Mr. Koester. The officers elected were Bill Conant, president; George Whitney, vice-president; Ed Hazelhurst, secretary-treasurer. There hasn't been much time this year for many activities besides weekly practices, but next year the club plans to join the National Rifle Association.

It was a struggle to the finish, but the team composed of Morrison, Jaenicke, Jech, McCullough, and Starczewski showed that they alone deserved the title of the "high score team."

"The purpose of this association shall be to encourage interest in sports and related activities among the women of the college as a means of promoting skill in sports, fellowship, health, and scholarship; and to cooperate with other organizations in promoting and maintaining the highest standards of college life," says the constitution of the Women's Athletic Association of T. J. C. But nobody ever knows that the organization has anything that formal about, it for the W. A. A. goes its merry way so casually, so efficiently, that it accomplishes its purpose under the guise of purely momentary amusement.

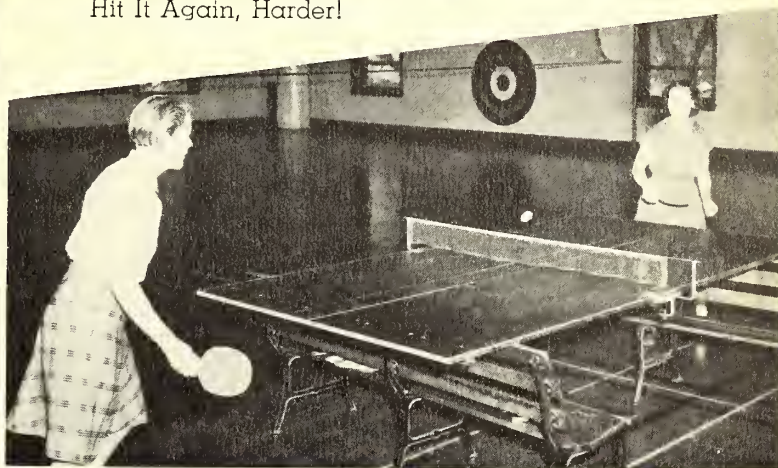

It includes in its more hilarious moments, a fall house party, an archery fry, an award banquet, a splash party, a mixed play day, a breakfast canter and a spring house party. A girl need not be a member of the W. A. A. in order to participate in these activities. However, membership is open to any girl who has participated in one season of W. A. A. athletic activity and complied with its requirements. Said requirements consist of being present at a set number of practices, and at the tournaments which follow the practice periods.

The W. A. A. board of sophomore girls, with a freshman vice-president and a freshman member at large, is the managing agent of the organization. The 1940-41 board includes: Virginia Treen, President; Eva Kronvall, Vice-President; Jean Mackenzie, Secretary-Treasurer; Iris Rudolph, Archery Chairman; Alice Rudolph, Basketball Chairman; Dorothy Zilsberger, Volley Ball Chairman; La Verne Anderson, Table Tennis Chairman; Elizabeth Maddox, Badminton Chairman; Macile Pacatte, Social Chairman; and Carol Strong, Member at Large.

Our W. A. A. was organized by Miss Carr in 1930, and is affiliated with the American Federation of College Women.

In a government-financed, college-sponsored course, twenty students of the Junior College have earned their wings. In November nine men and a girl enrolled in our first Junior College primary course in aviation. These were: Alice Rudolph, Harold Balhause, Hardy Griffith, Walter Johnson, Richard Case, Bernard Graff, Hal Staehling, Robert Henderson, Harry Hazelhurst, William Tompkins. In February these students received their private pilot's license. A new primary course was begun in March, again enrolling ten people. The girl in this class was Phyllis Ogden. The men included: Donald Pippert, Marvin Lange, Thomas Thoreson, Donald Mathies, Robert Frost, Robert Paulsen, Walter Hess, Robert Campaigne, and Frank Lathrope.

The ground course, consisting of meteorology, navigation, civil aeronautics rules, and theory of flight, is conducted by Mr. Miller and Mr. Beier.

The actual flying is done at Rubinkam airport in Hazelhurst, under the supervision of George Petit and the instruction of Vance La Balle.

The announcement of the organization of the Co-Ed Club came in October 14, 1927, soon after the founding of the Junior College. The purpose of the club is to promote fellowship among the women of the college.

It was not until the spring of 1931 that the Co-Ed Club established their present system of group formation. It was decided that the club would be composed of six groups, each with a leader. Today those groups exist under the following names: Alpha, Beta, Delta, Epsilon, Gamma, and Zeta.

Numerous are the activities of this woman's organization. As a group it sponsors a Mother-Daughter Banquet, Father-Daughter Banquet and a semi-formal dance, the Stagette, which is perhaps Jaycee's largest event next to the Prom. Performed by the groups are other functions such as monthly teas, tea dances, slack days, bow day, a supper shower and a Christmas supper.

Because of its attractiveness and the comforts it provides, the Co-Ed Room has become one of the favorite haunts of the Co-Eds. This room is charmingly furnished with all the requirements of a beautiful living room, including radio, piano, several rugs and beautiful new drapes. Adjoining the Co-Ed Room is a kitchenette which is provided with all the modern kitchen facilities.

The greatest honor that can be bestowed upon a group is having its name engraved upon the club's activity cup. To achieve this honor it must earn the greatest number of activity points throughout the year.

The officers for this year are: President, Patricia McKenna; Vice-President, Margaret Vandenberg; Secretary, Phyllis Ogden; and Treasurer, Gloria Myers. The Group Leaders are: Alpha, Alice Rudolph; Beta, Macile Pacatte; Delta, Ruth Bachmann; Epsilon, Ruth Silberman; Gamma, Jean Mackenzie; Zeta, Elizabeth Maddox.

Men's Club

In our school, as in others, it was found necessary to have an organization for bringing together the men of the college. To fill this need, the Men's Club was created several years ago. Its purpose was to draw the men of the college closer together and arrange various college, social, and athletic affairs in which the men could participate. Throughout the years of its existence, the club has done much to create an active interest in college affairs among the men.

The club this year was particularly active. It presented numerous dances and parties including a memorable college prom; besides, this, it helped to arrange a very extensive program of intramural athletics in which almost every man in the college participated.

Perhaps the intense activity of the club this year was due to its go-getting administration, which is composed of three sophomores and two freshmen. For the year 1940-41, the president was John Huck, a sophomore who was succeeded by the vice-president, Gareld Reeder, a freshman, upon Huck's withdrawal from college; the secretary was Clyde Krebs, a freshman; and the sergeant-at-arms was a sophomore, Walter Johnson.

Our club room this year, which was generously donated by the college, although not too spacious, was adequate, and the furnishing, although not lavish or too extensive, satisfied our needs. The room, which was naturally the most popular spot with all the men, was the scene of occasional mental and physical contests; and, although it was not recommended by our dean-of-men, as a place to study, it served as a place of rest after a particularly strenuous hour, and a room to which one might retire to recuperate from a sudden sickness (of school).

On the whole, though, the Men's Club is a worthy organization and was, in a large part, responsible for the extensive social program enjoyed at Thornton Junior College this year.

Lambda Epsilon, was organized a few years ago to promote scholarship. In order to be elected a member of Lambda Epsilon, one must garner forty honor points in the first semester, or seventy-five points in the first year at T. J. C. In order to retain membership, an average of thirty-five honor points must be maintained during each semester at J. C.

All the alumnae since the class of '29 who have performed this difficult feat even without thoughts of membership in Lambda Epsilon to spur them on, have been made honorary members.

The outstanding event of the club this year was the Lambda Epsilon Dinner held on March 12, in the High School cafeteria.

The main purpose of the dinner was the installation of the eight qualified members. There was entertainment and initiation after the supper.

Hardy Griffith, the president, is the only elected officer.

Miss Conley

The dramatic club is one of the most popular units of the Junior College. It is governed by a board with the president, Ruth Silberman and vice-president, Jerry McCullough. Dr. Minna Jewell is the sponsor of this organization. After reading many plays the board chose "Petticoat Fever" as the play of the year. Jean Lund and Leader Thaldorf were given the leading roles and with the help of a fine supporting cast including Don Pippert, Cletus Brault, Bill Conant, Marge Cooke and Alice Rudolph made the play a great success.
